“SEX PLEASE, WE’RE SIXTY!”
an American Farce

Mrs. Stancliffe owns a successful Bed & Breakfast for female guests.

Her neighbor, Bud “The Stud” Davis believes they come for romantic liaisons with him. Henry, a retired chemist, has developed a pill called “Venusia,” to increase the libido of menopausal women.

Bud gets his hands on some of the Venusia pills and attempts to entertain the three women guests!

For revenge, the women exchange Bud’s Viagra with the Venusia, and we discover it gives men the symptoms of menopausal women, complete with hot flashes, mood swings, weeping and irritability!

An hysterical Farce!

JUNE

“NOT NOW, DARLING!” another hilarious Ray Cooney farce! From the Master of Farce that brought you the smash hits “Funny Money” and “Run for Your Wife!”

Gilbert Bodley owns a fur shop and is trying to win the affections of his
would-be mistress by
"selling" her husband an expensive mink for a fraction of its real worth.

As luck would have it,
the husband seizes the
bargain for his own
mistress!

Suspicious wives, mistaken identities, and a continuous barrage of rapid fire jokes
all become part of the Side-splitting hilarity!
